Hello,

My name is Michael Ross and I wanted to take a minute to inform you know of an upcoming charity event to support Last Chance Corral, a horse rescue organization based in Athens, Ohio.

Each year thousands of newborn foals are slaughtered as unwanted byproducts of a thriving wet nurse equine industry. Last Chance Corral rescues as many of the newborn foals they are financially able to.

Last year we held our second annual motorcycle rally. Through the generosity of the local motorcycling community and about 80 riders, we were able to save approximately 10 foals..

This year, our goal is to save at least 55 baby horses. With sponsorship of the A.D. Farrow Co., we will be able to get the word out better than ever before. We are expecting a huge turnout which means a great opportunity to get your name out to the local motorcycling community and, of course, support a great cause.

We need your support - this includes but is not limited to; donations of goods and/or services or simply a financial contribution to Last Chance Corral c/o Horsepower For Horses.

100% of all donations go directly to Last Chance Corral to help save the horses.

Horsepower For Horses is staffed strictly by volunteers.

Any help you can provide would be greatly appreciated. One of our staff will be calling within the next few days – please open your hearts, minds and wallets.

Enclosed please find our 2010 flyer and a donation form. Please spread the word and consider joining us for the day (cars welcome as well).

Thanks in advance,

Michael Ross
